OUR PROBLEM:

Our problem here at Two Buttons is the same as ever: we are obsessed with beauty.

In a world where we are ever more surrounded by the manufactured, the plastic and the mass-produced, we have come to believe that the most precious objects to be found anymore are those that are made by hand. We love anything that has a story behind it, anything an actual human being made and cared about, anything old and unique...anything that they aren't making any more of these days. As consummate travelers, we are always discovering such beautiful objects in hidden corners of the world. Our problem is that we fall in love with these objects, and then we buy them. Because we have no self-control whatsoever when it comes to beauty.

Our other problem is that our home is not big enough to hold all the things we have fallen in love with and bought.

Therefore, we have founded this business, in order to sell to you --- our beloved customers -- all the beautiful stuff that we can't fit into our house anymore. And now we have a new problem -- we have a great big new building that we have gutted and then crammed to the rafters with gorgeousness, and we're running out of room already.

Anyhow, we hope you will help us solve our problem by buying lots of beautiful things, thereby giving us money that we will use to go traveling again and buy more beautiful things, which we will then bring back home and sell to you...and so on...

Thank you for your support...

Come for the day and see the whole world ...
